Why visit The Wave

Located on the edge of Bristol, you'll find The Wave, a slice of the ocean, inland.

We have waves for everyone...

Spending time in and around water, and being physically active are both huge contributors to positive physical and mental well-being.

Our coaches and staff are trained to deliver amazing experiences that we know school children love and respond to incredibly positively. Evidence has shown that the benefits of this type of activity can directly translate to attainment and performance in other areas of life.

Testimonials

Youth Group Leader

"As I write this with extreme exhaustion, I am so happy with the past few days we managed to arrange for our kids and I just wanted to say thank you!

It was an unbelievable opportunity to offer them and we really are hugely grateful! The smiles that they have had plastered all over their faces have been priceless and I reckon the excitement and buzz that coming to The Wave created will last a long time in them.

We couldn't have done it without your hard work and persistence to make the dream a reality; many of them were fearful or anxious before the trip but now have had their worries evaporated. But more importantly many of them had never been in the sea, or worn a wetsuit let alone surfed and you all have managed to give them that cultural capital and show them that they can access those sorts of things regardless of where they come from; which for me is the real success."

A large, powerful ocean wave is crashing over a dark, rounded rock. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a bright, hazy glow and reflecting off the water's surface. The wave's crest is white with foam, and the water below is a deep, dark blue. The overall scene is dramatic and captures the raw power of nature.

Thank you
